

WoodPellets.com Offers Affordable Spring Pricing and Delivery Options Amid Continued Oil Pricing Turmoil

Goffstown, NH – WoodPellets.com has launched a series of fuel pricing and delivery options for people looking for an affordable, efficient alternative to fossil fuels, in response to the continued turmoil in oil-producing countries.

Wood pellets are typically a relatively cost-stable commodity, but WoodPellets.com marketing exec Gretchen Saegh predicts that pellets will be a hot item this heating season. “With so much uncertainty surrounding the pricing and supply of other heating methods, wood pellets are a very attractive option. Our spring pricing allows customers to lock in an affordable, reliable source of heat now.”

Saegh says the company is offering a new budget payment plan to help people take advantage of this pricing, even if they are not ready to receive their order just yet. “With our budget payment program, customers can pay for their fuel in installments over several months, and then take delivery just in time for the heating season. It’s a win-win-win situation – you can lock in your savings, budget your heating bill ahead of time, and enjoy a winter without any payments. It’s becoming a very popular option with our customers.”

According to Mark MacLean, Senior VP at WoodPellets.com, this is a great time to invest in wood pellet heat. “Our customers are going to enjoy unprecedented savings this year, especially those who used to heat their homes with oil.” MacLean predicts that, as turmoil persists in oil-producing countries and the fossil fuel supply tightens, more and more Americans will look to alternative, domestically produced heat sources like wood pellets. Major news outlets across the country have corroborated this theory, reporting that heating oil use is falling amid price fluctuations and increasing frustrations.
